Clarks'

Try a shine, 5c.

The man who claims he is Emmett E. Clarke and who was arrested when the police received telegrams from New York and Ontario to the effect that the man in Ogden had telegraphed to New York for money over the signature of Emmett E. Clarke when the genuine Clarke is in Ottawa, was charged with petit larceny this morning. The charge was made out following a visit yesterday of Detective George Wardlaw and Charles Pincock to the room occupied by Clarke in the Reed. There the detectives found the safety razor and other articles which were in the grip stolen from D. M. Hood of Salt Lake, who had left his grip in the Hemenway & Moser cigar store. The grip was found last evening in the Pabst saloon. According to the police, the description of the man as given by the bartender at the Pabst agrees with Clarke. Clarke had a black eye and wore a light checked suit which made identification easy.

Clarke has hired an attorney and has written for money, but claims that it will be two weeks before funds arrive. He is confident, however, that he will receive all the money he needs.

If Clarke hired a boy to get the grip from the store after Hood had left it, he must have hurriedly made away with the evidence because he was arrested shortly after the grip was stolen. Hood did not come from Salt Lake until 11 o'clock and had just left the grip but a few minutes when it was taken. Detective Pincock arrested Clarke shortly after noon as Clarke was on his way to a telegraph office.

The police believe that Clarke is one of a few clever crooks who travel over the country engaged in petty thievery, sending the stolen articles east to "fences" to be sold. By staying in good hotels, the police claim, the men avoid suspicion.

HORRORS OF THE MIDLAND TRAIL

Richard G. Lambert of the Lambert Paper company, and L. F. Parry of Hewlett Bros., have reached Ely, Nev., after a harrowing experience on the desert west of Vernon, Tooele county, according to word received in Salt Lake yesterday. Unable to climb the summit of the dugway, the two men found themselves stalled twenty-five miles from Fish Springs, the nearest watering place.

They started to walk to Fish Springs. Mr. Lambert had recently recovered from an attack of illness and became exhausted before he had traveled ten of the intervening twenty-five miles.

Enduring great hardships Mr. Parry succeeded in reaching Fish Springs and with J. J. Thomas returned to hunt for his companion. They found him eight miles out on the desert, to which point he had struggled fearful lest his younger companion had met with a mishap.

Mr. Lambert was in a serious condition when the two men returned.

CLOUDBURST IS SEEN FROM A TRAIN

R. E. Vaughn, a sheepman of Montello, Nev., who came to Ogden this morning on a business trip, states that last evening he witnessed from the train the heavy black cloud that turned into a cloudburst. He could plainly see the monster cloud as it moved southwesterly from a point near the line of the Southern Pacific at a rapid rate of speed.

It was a gloomy looking object and cast a shadow of gloom over the entire western horizon. When it finally condensed, great sheets of water plainly could be seen pouring down from the storm as it lighted by zig-zag streaks of lightning.

URGED TO TAKE THE MIDLAND TRAIL

R. W. Russell of Illinois, who is touring the country overland in an automobile, tells of the keen interest taken by Salt Lake people in diverting travel from the Overland trail and across the mountains from Echo canyon to Salt Lake.

Mr. Russell broke a small clutch on his machine at Castle Rock, 56 miles east of Ogden on the Union Pacific, and had to come to Ogden to get a new one. He returned to his camp this morning and will journey on today toward the golden west via Salt Lake and the white salt desert on the Western Pacific.

Mr. Russell says he has met emissaries of the so-called "Midland trail" all along the Overland route, telling him that he was the west's best automobile road in the United States and that he should have turned his course at Denver and followed the line of the Midland to Salt Lake. He also was advised that the road down Weber canyon to Ogden was almost impassable and that the only safe route was over Parley's canyon divide to Salt Lake. Sumner county men were also along the line telling Russell to evade Ogden, claiming that the road through their county was the best and the only real picturesque line of travel in the Wasatch range.

Mr. Russell was also told that the route across the barren wastes of the great white desert of salt and alkali west of Salt Lake is the official line for automobiles and that it is in splendid repair. Thus he was induced to go that way. Fortunately, Mr. Russell carries his tent and camping outfit so that he is at home wherever night overtakes him.

JOHN HALLS OF HUNTSVILLE IS NAMED

About the last of July, President J. A. Widsow of the Agricultural college appointed a board of chairman to act in connection with the extension division of that institution. This board consists of a man from each county, to act as head of the college extension work in that county. The position is one of honor it carries no salary. The person that fills it will act as adviser to the extension division staff, pointing out whatever he thinks to be the needs of his community. He will advise as to the time and kinds of institutes to be held, the location of experimental farm, whenever it is proposed to establish one, as to the work of farm and home demonstrators, and as to other problems with which the welfare of the county are vitally concerned, including those of reclamation, irrigation, breeding, dairying, and tles of the extension division, to be held each county will be announced through this chairman and he will preside at all meetings.

A proffer of the position has been made to a prominent man of each county. All have not been heard from as yet. Those that have accepted the appointment follow:

W. S. Hansen of Collinston for Box Elder county, S. O. White of Beaver for Beaver county, A. G. Marcussen of Price for Carbon, H. H. Blood of Kayville for Davis, Lucius N. Marsden of Parowan for Iron, J. W. Paxman of Nephi for Juab, William Spegmiller of Kanab, for Kane, John Reeve of Hinkley for Millard, James E. Peterson of Circleville for Piute, Robert D. Young of Richfield for Sevier, Moses W. Taylor of Coalville for Summit, G. Alvin Ormrod of Toole for Tooele, Don E. Colton of Ternal for Uintah, Edward W. Southwick of Lehi for Utah, A. H. Snow of St. George for Washington, John Halls of Huntsville for Weber, Joseph Eckersley of Loa for Wayne.

This is considered an important step in the work of carrying the Agricultural college to the people, as it will make the man on the farm feel in closer touch with that institution and will bring to his attention, as never before, the fact that the latter has something that will help him in his business, and moreover is willing to help him.

NEGRO ATTACKS DINING CAR INSPECTOR

Angered because George V. Bartlett, a dining car inspector, used a clean glass to test water coming from the car filter, H. H. Rountree, a colored dining car waiter, seized the inspector by the throat in the depot grounds this morning and made a pass at Bartlett with a heavy file, the handle of which had been sharpened for use as an ice pick. Bartlett shielded himself from the sharp end but received the blow on the ribs. As the maddened waiter attempted to strike the second time, the dining car conductor seized the negro's arms and held him until Silas Tracy, acting deputy sheriff, turned him over to Patrolman John Hutchens.

When the man was locked in the city jail, Bartlett went to the office of County Attorney David Jensen to swear out a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon.

According to Inspector Bartlett, it is one of his duties to test the filters in the cars. To learn if the filters are working properly, a clean glass must be used. The waiter asked Bartlett to use one that had not been wiped and, when Bartlett refused, he said the waiter attacked him with the heavy sharpened file.

LEONAL T. READ DIES OF LUNG CONGESTION

Leon T. Read, the 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Read, died at 7 o'clock this morning at the residence of his grandfather, James Thomas, 2736 Washington avenue, following an illness of lung congestion of five days' duration. Leonal, with a party of friends, went to the Hot Springs on Thursday and enjoyed a bath in the big pool. He became chilled on the way home and did not go to the camp of his parents in the canyon but remained in town. On Friday he was taken to the Hermitage where he grew steadily worse until he was brought to Ogden on Monday. He rallied and hopes were held out for his recovery, but he sank rapidly during the night.

Leon T. Read was born in Ogden, August 1, 1890, and attended the Ogden public schools. After completing the eighth grade he was a student at the Weber academy. He did not graduate from the school as he was taken with typhoid fever during the last of his remaining year and did not finish.

On July 6, 1910, he left to fulfill a mission for the Mormon church, returning to Ogden on March 2 of this year. He worked in the French mission at Liege and Seraing, Belgium, time at Liege and Seraing, Belgium. Reports from his superiors there show that he performed his duties with honor to himself and his church.

Since his return he has been employed in the J. G. Read and Brothers harness establishment on Twenty-fourth street.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Earl and Walter and one sister, Mary. Earl Read is now in Belgium engaged in missionary work. The sudden death of Leonal came as a shock to his many friends. He was an amateur musician of ability and before going on his mission was a member of the Weber academy band and orchestra and other amateur organizations.

Funeral services will be announced when arrangements are completed.

MURDERER IS TRACED TO OGDEN

Deputy Sheriff George Crane of Pocatello, Ida., is in the city today co-operating with Sheriff Devine in trying to locate Ulysses G. Bereup, alias Fred Bereus, alias Fred Mung who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff McFadden in Idaho last Saturday. The officer was shot Saturday afternoon and died Sunday.

The bank at Pocatello has received a letter signed in the name of the alleged murderer, dated at Ogden, Monday, asking the bank to transfer his account to the bank at Coburn, Nev., the presumption being that the man was in Ogden on Monday and that he may still be here in hiding.

An officer has been dispatched to Coburn to arrest any one who might call for the money but it is thought possible that he will send a confederate.

Deputy Sheriff Crane states that, directly after the shooting of Deputy Sheriff McFadden, Bereup took a train for Granger and evidently boarded a Union Pacific train, arriving in Ogden Monday. He is an ex-convict of the Wyoming penitentiary and an all-round bad man. He shot officer McFadden after he had been arrested for bootlegging in the vicinity of Grace, Ida. He was riding in a buggy with the officer when he suddenly whipped out a revolver and began shooting. McFadden was shot through the hand and body. A description of the murderer follows: Ulysses G. Bereup, alias Fred Bereus, alias Fred Mung 27 years old, dark complexion, dark brown hair, steel blue eyes, smooth shaven when last seen, one or two upper gold teeth medium high cheek bones, small ears; height about 5 feet 11 inches; weight 170 to 180 pounds; nose somewhat disfigured and turned; served three years in the United States army and one year in the Wyoming state penitentiary has all the appearance of a soldier; is very quiet; has scar running from point of shoulder blade to hip joint about a quarter of an inch wide.

Deputy McFadden leaves a wife and two children, residing at the Phoenix Construction company's camp No. 2 near Grace, where the fatal shooting took place.
